

Started in 2020, Beth's Bookclub a small nonprofit located in Reno, NV focused on educating the importance of literacy within their local community. As a nonprofit focused on children's literacy, they would want to be seen as professional, but kid-friendly. As a nonprofit focused on children's literacy, they would want to be seen as professional, but kid-friendly.

"They say 'reading is an escape from reality to an alternate world, sometimes a better world'. All kids deserve that."

- Beth Swanberg, Founder

Information

WHO WE ARE

Noneprofit focused on developing children's literacy by providing books to the local community.

WHAT WE DO

The organization has three main tasks: collecting and selling used books; hosting field trips with local schools and community centers to teach the importance of reading; and donating books to homeless shelters and underfunded schools. As a nonprofit focused on children's literacy, they would want to be seen as professional, but kid-friendly. Donate books to local school districts, primarily middle schools, and local shelters like competitors are Hosanna Home Women's Transitional Shelter, Casa de Vida, and The Salvation Army Community Center.
